summer 2010

a vintage summer

Remember when apples and blackberries were just fruits you got in pies, when summer days were hot and sunny and lasted forever, and when life was about going to the beach, riding bikes and having picnics?

This month, we are getting back those dreamy days and guests can order a picnic full of summertime treats and head for the great outdoors.

festivals & fairs

There's lots to do this month in Somerset. The Somerton Arts Festival runs from 9th to 17th July with a range of local artists, bands and a Festival market.

Further afield is the Larmer Tree Festival near Salisbury whilst closer to home, Montacute House plays host to the annual craft and garden fair on the 24th and 25th July.

At Muchelney Abbey, you can see an open air production of The Importance of Being Ernest on 20th July; whilst various Morris Dancing troops can be seen all over the county in July!

Lowland Games

It's not exactly the sporting prowess witnessed at the Highland Games or the Olympics but in Somerset, the annual Lowland Games take place on Sunday 26th July, at Thorney near Langport.

Events include the river raft race, mud wrestling and river It's a Knock Out; as well as 'fabulous' ferret racing!

pride of Bath

A giant pride of 100 individually decorated, life-size lion sculptures has taken up residence in and around the World Heritage City of Bath this summer in a colourful, public art event to raise funds for local charities and bring a smile to the faces of residents and visitors alike. Decorated by artists and craftspeople in styles ranging from the beautiful to the bizarre, the lions are on display throughout the summer until September.

restaurant flavours

We've gone all retro – and yet terribly modern at the same time – with some fabulous new wallpaper in the restaurant.

Designed back in 1967, our funky new look brings a vibrant warmth to the place where we eat.

new lunch menu

Our new Head Chef, Marcela Morales has created a delicious new lunchtime menu for summer. Why not pop in for a bite to eat – 2 courses for £14 or 3 courses for £17 – and coffee.

Information on all our breaks and offers is on our website, or please contact Alison or Rachel and they will be delighted to help you.
